Lesson for March 4
JESUS AND THE TWELVE

LESSON TOPIC—Mark 3:13-19, 6:7-13
GOLDEN TEXT—Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel unto every creature.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Chooses Twelve Helpers.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Twelve Apostles and Their Work.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus' Call to Service.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Training of the Twelve.

I. The Twelve Ordained (Mark 3:13-19).

Jesus, knowing that His earthly career would be cut short, made provision for the carrying forward of His work after He was gone by calling and ordaining the twelve. Before doing this He spent a whole night in prayer (Luke 6:12). The burden of His prayer is indicated by what He immediately did. From among His disciples He chose twelve whom He ordained for a twofold purpose:

1. "That they might be with Him (v. 14).

Fellowship with the Lord is not only the highest privilege of a disciple but the indispensable qualification for witnessing for Him. Personal association with Jesus Christ—the interaction of personalities—the impact of His personality upon ours is the essential preparation for Christian service.

2. "That He might send them forth to preach" (vv. 14, 15).

To proclaim the good news of salvation to the lost world was the supreme mission of the disciples. Their credential for this mission was the endowment of the power of the Spirit—"To heal sickness and to cast out devils" (v. 15). Concerning those who were to be Christ's messengers He said:

(1) That twelve were ordained (v. 14). This was the beginning of the process by which the triune God was to make known His grace to the whole world, therefore He sends forth the number of men corresponding to that purpose. The number twelve is the product of the heavenly three and the earthly four indicated in the the true God to reveal Himself to the four quarters of the world.

(2) Their characteristics. (a) Men of average ability. They were not from schools and colleges, yet men of mental capacity and efficiency. This has been the history of the Christian church. Not many noble, not many wise after the flesh are called (1 Cor. 1:26). (b) Middle ranks of society. They were not chosen from among the rich, neither from among the poor. The most efficient workers are those who are able to sympathize with the common people. (c) Diverse temperamental gifts. They were so grouped as to have impulse and leadership—reflection and questioning went together, and among them were found men of practical business ability.

II. The Twelve Sent Forth (Mark 6:7-13).

1. They were sent forth in pairs (v. 7).

Two reasons may be assigned for this. (1) A cheering and comforting companionship for the workers.

(2) Confirmation of testimony. In the mouth of two or three witnesses every word shall be established. People would more likely believe that which was verified by two.

3. Supernatural authentication of their mission (v. 7). He gave them power over unclean spirits. He endued them with power to work miracles, in order to demonstrate their divine commission.

3. Their maintenance (vv. 8, 9).

They were to depend wholly for their support upon the Lord who sent them. Having received the message and the power gratuitously they were to give them out in the same way (Matt. 10:9).

4. Contentment with hospitality (v. 10).

According to Matt. 10:11, inquiry was to be made upon entering a city as to a reputable place to stay. Upon being directed to such a place the missionary was to be content.

5. The responsibilities of the hearers (v. 11).

Judgment was to be pronounced upon those who rejected their message.

6. Their message and work (vv. 12, 13).

They went out and preached that men should repent. Matthew adds, "The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand" (Matt. 10:7). This means that the kingdom promised to Israel was at hand, that the Messiah was present and ready to set up His kingdom. In confirmation of this message they cast out many devils, anointed with oil many that were sick, and healed them.

God's Overflowing Love

There is such a thing as putting ourselves in the way of God's overflowing love and letting it beat upon us till the response of love to Him comes, not by struggle, not even by deliberation, but by necessity, as the echo comes when the sound strikes the rock.—Phillips Brooks.

Being Right With God

The man who is right with God doesn't have to have a big income to be happy.—F. B. Meyer.

NORWAY—UPTON RIDGE

Mrs. Ethel Dunn is stopping at Olin Upton's this week, while her sister, Mrs. Elsie Herrick and daughter, Betty, are at the home. The Herricks are packing a part of their household furnishings, preparatory to returning home.

Mrs. Emma Packard has been keeping house for her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Greenleaf, while the latter and Nancy have been visiting in the city a few days.

Mrs. Henry White has been recovering from a gripple cold. She has been very industrious last winter evenings, knitting socks and mittens.

The White Hyacinth

By NELLE R. EBERHART

(The Western Newspaper Union.)

She sat in the beautiful auditorium in orchestra seats. It was Marcia's birthday and this concert with a little supper afterward had weeks before been given by Judson for an extravagant celebration.

Such luxuries were few, yet they waned little in her heart. Judson was many. A Sunday morning in one of the parks, a ferry ride to Staten Island, a moonlight bus ride along the Hudson, the nine o'clock singing hour at St. Mark's on the Bowery, the discussion of their daily affairs, the details of his study, the planning of their future home—these were unending springs of delight. Everything they lacked—passionately good music, they never heard except good singing, for Judson's salary was small, he was attending night classes as well as educating a talented brother, Marcia, herself, supported her mother and high school sister.

From this strange soil the thought of the concert had bloomed like a flower on a window sill. It was a wonderful excitement, an entrance into an operatic concert, too—almost as good as the opera. And for once they were to hear the performance nearly instead of from the dizzy heights of the family circle.

For the occasion, Florence had fastened her straight, sleeveless gown from three yards of midnight blue material. She had no ornaments, but her slim white arms needed no further adornment than the dimple at the elbow and the adorable young curve of her wrist.

Realizing that many men wear blue suits to concerts, Judson conceived himself with buying a handkerchief and a new pair of gloves. Then, suddenly, their first quarrel, sprung now in the luxuriousness of her room, her eyes strained to her program, Marcia, thinking back, could not remember what had caused the unexpected flare-up. Seeing without provocation their quarrel flared and parted in frigid silence.

In the early next morning's mail, Marcia had received a stiff note from Judson enclosing the tickets and requesting her to take Florence with her.

Marcia had been anxious and had turned to the telephone just in time to find him before he left for business. There had been a compromise for no reconciliation. Marcia returned Judson one ticket and they each went alone, hurt and aloof.

Marcia sighed—without response; the music she explored in the parterre, the grand tier, the dress circle, the balcony; it thrived the family circle and slipped to the stage as the concert took his place, yet never touched the edge of Marcia's gown. Very stock and handsome was Judson in his well pressed suit and new tie. Marcia thrilled with pride, cast her furtive, hungry glances toward the people. In her abstraction, the overture left her cold. Then a familiar strain; Marcia caught her breath; Judson's immobile features changed indescribably. This was Judson's song—Judson, who could not sing a note but mightily voiced his opinion to her in De Gorgonzola's phonograph record of Massenet's "Fleur de Vierge." Now for the first time they were to hear it sung by a living voice, yet they were not to enjoy it together! Through all its heavenly melody they were to sit apart, though side by side, separated by a foolish, almost forgotten, misunderstanding. And this was her birthday treat!

Marcia recalled what Judson had said when he first shared with her his golden idea:

"Suppose I can't afford the money, Marcia. Suppose I have no spring concert and Chester needs a new piano. This concert is to be a white highway for our souls."

Marcia's prudent objections had died. She had added joyously:

"And we'll remember it afterward, note for note, word for word, to help us over the hard places."

Marcia sighed again as the music stopped and the applause assailed her ears; she looked openly, invitingly at her lover. His stubbly mouth had relaxed, his hands gripped the chair arms, he looked woefully tired. And here was his beautiful thought for her, carried out at the cost of weariness self-denial, coming to a pitiful end. If she spoke now they would still have an hour of music and the intermission together. One of their plans had been to promenade the Metropolitan corridors during the intermission.

Impulsively she turned to him and intercepted a shy, fleeting glance. Before her lips opened, however, she heard the prelude to the Habenera. She sank back mentally following the glorious voice and translating:

"Love is like a woodchuck rebelling."

Her hand slid over the chair arm, found Judson's, which stole to meet it. With tears raining down her face, oblivious of the surrounding audience, she turned to her lover. To her joy, his transfixed gaze met hers.

"L'amour! L'amour!" Their hands clasped fervently. Inspired by the spirit of song, their hearts again marched to the music of the spheres. It was a white hyacinth for their souls. Note for note, word for word, this concert would go with them even to the gates of Paradise.

Folklore Museum

The following are perhaps the best-known museums in the world specializing in folklore: Nordic museum, Stockholm; Museum of Volkerkunde, Berlin; and the Museum of Popular Traditions in Paris.

Fishes With Lungs

The bureau of fisheries says that some fish have modified lungs in the form of an air bladder, but not functionally. Most fish breathe through their gills.

Teach the Child to

Read With Pleasure

A very superficial study of a child's mind would reveal the fact that the primary characteristic is imitation. In fact, this single trait includes the majority of the acquisitive powers of a child up to the age of seven. If a child were shut off from all human contact, all reading matter, until it was seven years of age, the brain of the child would be that of a month-old infant. The problem becomes that of furnishing the proper examples for the child to imitate. His playmates are selected by watchful parents. They endeavor to create an ideal home life for the child, but few pay any attention to the proper selection of reading matter for the child. The most indelible impressions made on a child's mind are those made by pictures and words encountered in the reading of the child. The goal striven for by most parents is early instruction for their children. That, in some cases, is a grave mistake. During the formative period, that is, the early years of the life of the child, the aim should be to amuse the child and not to attempt to instruct it before its brain can grasp the lesson set before it.

The child's reading should be such that he himself can understand it. The stories should be "amusingly imitative." The characters should enter the "play life" of the child. Let the reading serve as a pleasant companion for your child, not as a hated taskmaster.—Kansas City Star.

Male Seahorse Does

Work of Incubator

One of the most remarkable egg incubators known in nature is that of the small seahorse, the water creature that gets its name from its remarkable resemblance to the "horse" used as a knight in the game of chess, both resembling the head and shoulders of a horse.

The seahorse father somehow opens up a little pouch somewhat like that of the kangaroo, and the female lays her eggs in this pouch.

Then the old man seahorse travels around with these eggs at the end of his body till he finds they have hatched.

Then the old fellow opens the pouch, and out come several hundred little seahorses, perfectly formed, yet so small that they can be seen only with the aid of a magnifying glass.

California's Prized Gem

Kunzite, the exquisite gem, the most lately discovered of earth's precious stones, is found in Riverside and San Diego counties in California and nowhere else. Extraordinary brilliant, its colors are pink, lavender and various attractive shades of lilac, and it cuts adequately into any desirable gem form you wish. It is one of the few natural pink gems, and as a lilac gem it stands absolutely alone, as the Tiffany's immediately acknowledged by their recognition of its rarity, intrinsic beauty, striking brilliancy and high monetary value. The best stones come from the mines near Pala, but they are also found farther south in San Diego county, often associated with other gems such as beryls, noble garnets, magnificent tourmalines, fine opals and alluring aquamarines.

Where Sea Gulls Nest

Over 30 species of sea gulls are known, ranging in size from that of a pigeon to that of a goose. Naturally they differ much in habits. But generally speaking they nest on the ground along the shore, in swamps or on rocky cliffs. A few species nest in trees. The nests are composed of moss, seaweed, dry grass or marsh weed. When the nest is in the trees it is built on a foundation of sticks and twigs. Gulls usually nest in colonies and the birds set up a clamorous noise when their colonies are disturbed. They perch on the ground along the shore, rarely in trees. Sea gulls are found around large bodies of water in nearly every part of the world.

Skowhegan's Fame

That quaint old town in Maine known as Skowhegan makes a bid for fame by claiming to have a hand-made wagon 105 years of age, in use for nearly all that time, being the first wagon brought into that part of the state. It was built along the lines of the old Conestoga high wagons familiar through the central part of the country when the old National pike was the one great and only highway to the West. It has wooden axles and a set of heavy leather springs under the bed. It shows traces of much wear but has been kept well painted and has attracted much attention.

Those Dear Girls

Dora—Yes, Tom's a good fellow—good-looking and has plenty of money—but he's so timid and bashful, you know. He's been coming to see me twice a week for nearly a month, and he's never attempted to kiss me.

Joan—Well, he certainly appears to possess good taste among his other excellent qualities, but really he was not so timid when he called to see me the other evening.

Giving Thanks

Let not your thanksgiving proceed from your lips only, but let it come from the depths of your heart whether lips express it or not; for out of the abundance of the heart the mouth best speaketh in rendering thanks.—Griff.

Beauty and Good

Indeed, the beautiful is inseparably united to the good and the true, . . . for the very nature of the sense of beauty is such that through it we gain a clearer concept of the good. The history of the materialistic success, the desire for artistic enjoyment has been a potent factor in bringing a people back to the higher ideals which underlie a peaceful intercourse between nations. —Herbert Sidney Langford, in "The Aesthetic Attitude."

Oxford County United Parish

Including Albany, North Lovell, Stoneham, and the Waterfalls. Pastoral Staff—Rev. W. I. Bull, B. F. Wentworth, A. C. Townsend.

The third annual Winter Carnival was held at North Waterford, Saturday, February 25, and was an entire success in spite of the zero weather. There was not a dull moment from 10 A. M. till late afternoon. Contests were for all classes, from Midgets through Priories, Juniors, Intermediates and Seniors, both boys and girls.

They were ski jumps, cross country races with skis and with snowshoes, ski dashes and one snowshoe tug-of-war, ski jumping, obstacle races, relay races, skating races, and a penny hunt.

The highest score for the day was made by Kenneth Aldrich of Norway, and he holds the boys' cup for the year. His score was 235 points.

The highest girls' score was made by Josephine Jordan, but as she was not a member of a Sunday School, she was not eligible to receive a trophy. Miss Jordan's score was 135, Miss Rounds' 125.

Johnson of Bethel and Yates of Norway were tied for second place, with a score of 165 each.

Don Brown, holder of last year's cup, made a score of 160; Stanley Lord, holder of the cup two years ago, made a score of 135. Other scores made were: Helen Crouse, 95; Mary Hersey, 90.

The purchase of a button gave admission to the Carnival, and also a vote for the Carnival Queen. When the votes were counted, Mary Hersey of North Waterford was found to have received the highest number, but because of credits given for the score made during the day, the election went to Ruth Rounds of Waterford, and in an inter-school contest, Bethel lost to Norway.

At noon a chicken dinner was served by the Ladies' Circle of North Waterford, with contributions from the other Circles of the United Parish; and the supper was served by the Woman's Relief Corps of North Waterford.

In the evening the drama, "Mail Order Bride," was given in Old Fellowship Hall to a full house. The cast was all from North Waterford, and the play was up to their usual high standard of excellence.

The drama is to be repeated at South Waterford, next Saturday evening, March 3.

BOLSTERS MILLS

P. of H. met in regular session, Saturday evening, Feb. 18. The program was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gay and was as follows:

Piano Solo Eva Mills
Reading Gertrude Weston
Reading Gertrude Weston
Song Mabel Johnson
Harmonica Solo W. Weston
It was voted to hold an all day meeting March 3, and to invite Bear Mountain Grange of Waterford. A baked bean dinner will be served and each Grange furnish half of the program.

Victor Saunders is blacksmithing in Walker Mills shop. His family and Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Grover are living in the Freeman Pike house.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Grover were at their home and at John Grover's, Sunday, February 19 and February 26.

Charles Lombard is working at James Stone's.

E. L. Hicks went to the Central Maine General Hospital Thursday, Feb. 23.

Mrs. Ernest Gay is ill, also Mrs. Geo. Skilling, Mrs. Skilling has a trained nurse.

Norman Mills had a very happy birthday this year. He and his mother, Mrs. Martha Mills, celebrated their birthdays Feb. 15, with a chicken dinner at Mrs. Mills'.

In the evening several friends arrived in spite of ice and fog. Games and cards were enjoyed. Refreshments were served. Mrs. John Green decorated the birthday cakes and Mr. Green made the punch for the occasion.

Norman Mills has bought a Ford sedan. Charles Walker is having wood and timber cut on his lot on Haskell Hill by Elmer Thomas, Ed Lord and Will Shackford.

"Susie's Kitchen Cabinet Band" was presented at Grange Hall, Thursday evening by ladies from Harrison. Owing to a stormy day, the audience was small. The show was enjoyed and a short dance. Amia Kilwell has been having the measles.

Clark's mill yard is nearly full of birch. A. W. Weston has been to Harrison this week, working on the town books.

NORTH LOVELL

Arch Hill went to Oxford after a load of household goods for Fred Warren, Saturday.

Willis McAllister has been very sick but is much better now.

Lorin McKee has been sick with the prevailing bad cold.

Quite a cold wave Saturday and Sunday, the thermometer registering from 12 to 22 degrees below zero in this vicinity.

Quite a number from North Lovell attended the Carnival at North Waterford, Saturday, and report a very fine time, although the weather was very cold it did not prevent a large crowd from being present to enjoy the fun.

Mrs. Emma Kendall and son Norman, of Fryeburg motored to North Lovell and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Perley McKee, Sunday. They found fine traveling.

Mrs. Lottie Palmer has gone to Berlin, N. H. to visit her son, John, who is attending school there, and her sister, Mrs. Lydia Ellis, and family.

John Quill Finds Woman Plying Trade of "Loan-ing" Felines

John Quill an old time friend of the Journal, strolled into the office Sunday evening and brought a story of a unique occupation in which a Lake Umbagog lady indulges. John Quill tells the story in his own inimitable style:

"I thought 'cats are cats' and I had in my story on this cat's crust run up against about everything in the way of unique and new enterprises. But I must admit that the lady whose husband runs a truck farm out near Cobbosconteecon, put one over on me and set me way back in the primary class.

"A friend took me over across the lake in his boat the other day. He was in quest of gurnard bass. While I lingered for his basket to be filled I saw a flock of beautiful half grown cats. Being a cat fancier myself, I soon had my arms full of felines of all colors. As the lady of the house came out, I said, 'You have some beautiful cats here.' She said, 'Yes, we raise them all and when the summer comes owners come in the early summer, they let their cats run come here and pick out one. It saves them the bother of bringing their pets from home. If they are not satisfied with their first choice they come back and swap and try again. They keep the cat all summer, and when they get ready to pack up in the fall to go to their homes, they bring the cat back to me family. Sometimes a bright kitten is good for two or three seasons but I have ways have an assortment to pick from.' I said, 'What is your charge for all this?' She laughed and said, 'I never charge them anything. I am very fond of cats and children myself and if I can contribute if ever so little I love to do so.'

"I thought all the way over in the boat and coming in on the car of this cat industry—this circulating library in cats. Why, this woman is doing more to perpetuate her memory than anything I know of. The little cat and when they grow up and have children of their own, they will tell them the story—the tale of a cat—mer they will take their children in the hand and lead them through the woods to the little cottage on the shore and point out the little covered porch where they used to come in the long ago and receive their precious cat—no, not a gift—but a loan of a cat."

—John Quill, in the Kennebec Journal.

When the time comes for putting the incubator into service for the spring hatching of chickens it should be cleaned thoroughly and disinfected to destroy disease organisms before the eggs are placed in it. Be sure that all down and dirt have been removed from the incubator, and disinfect the interior of the machine as well as the egg trays and nursery draws with an efficient disinfectant, such as a saponified creol solution.

NORWAY VICINITY

Mrs. Fannie Frost has lately received word that her sister, Mrs. E. L. Hill, of East Waterford, is in very poor health. Master Francis R. Dow of Paris St., is certainly enjoying poor health. He has a light case of the mumps but with the disease came his cousin, Florence, whom he thinks is just about all right. She is a trained nurse and has stayed several days with him. He has had all the care and attention one small boy needs to have and except for his natural regret (?) at staying home from school, is very happy.

Mrs. Fannie Frost of Paris Street has a feeding station or tray for birds just outside her kitchen window. The nest is a box of straw, and she has placed it in a place where sparrows, starlings and chickadees at different times and enjoys the birds very much.

Master Robert Carroll, who boards with his aunt, Mrs. Albert Noyes, at Green Street, nearly lost an eye one day last week. He fell down on the ice and badly bruised the eye, causing it to be black and blue and swollen.

Don't get disgusted with us. Town report printing claims a good bit of our attention. It will soon be over and then a ten paged paper.

There will be a stated communication of Oxford Lodge No. 10, F. & M. S. on Friday, March 2nd. Work in the F. C. degree.

The drama "Turn to the Right" will be presented in Norway Opera House Friday evening, March 16. This play will be under the auspices of the Rifeout Club of the Congregational Church and coached by Harold A. Anderson.

Mrs. Arthur Herrick gave a party the 22nd, in honor of Mr. O. H. Howe, who is here from Bridgewater, visiting her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Howe, Cottage St.

Mrs. Emma Packard went, Sunday, to assist in caring for Sumner Parker for a short time.

Del Kilgore: "Ground sparrows have come. Hope they don't get cold feet."

SOUTH PARIS NEWS

Vernie Walton has returned to his work as janitor at the County buildings, after a long absence because of illness. James Perry, who substituted during the time, remains to paint the wood work in the offices.

Mrs. Annie McPhetres, who has been spending a few months with her daughter, Mrs. R. H. Colby, was called to Walston, Mass., Monday, by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Towne.

Mrs. Elsie Barnes entertained the American Legion Auxiliary sewing circle at her home, Monday evening. Part of the time was devoted to social activities. Plans for the Mother and Daughter Banquet which will be held at the Congregational vestry at 6:00 on March 8 are well under way. Mrs. Hilda Ives of Portland will be the speaker. Tickets will be sold in advance. We hope that a large number will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear Mrs. Ives and enjoy a social hour together. The music for the evening will be in charge of the music committee of the Community Club. Above all, notice the banquet hour has been changed from 6:30 to 6 o'clock.

EAST SUMMER

Our prosperous cattle dealer, H. L. Gammon, bought a cow of F. L. Charles, also a calf of R. R. Palmer, besides several other out of town.

Mrs. Oscar Turner has been in Portland for a week.

A large attendance at Circle dinner, Thursday, Feb. 15, in spite of icy traveling.

There is much excitement over who will be next R. F. D. mail carrier.

There was a large attendance at Union Grange, Feb. 11th, it being the observance of both Lincoln's and Washington's birthday. The program was as follows. The members were surprised by the appearance of George and Martha Washington, Abraham and Mary Todd Lincoln, Betty Ross, and a southern planter and his negro slave, who led them down to dinner of baked beans, topped off with Indian puddings and Washington pies. After all were seated in the hall again, our distinguished guests marched through the hall and were seated on the stage, where Betty Ross served on her flag and the negro slave entertained with song and banjo. Appropriate songs, readings and recitations were given. A feature of the day was a beautiful flag drill by eight young people, each bearing a silk flag, led by Edna Smith and Farrington Charles.

Owing to illness in her family, Mary Gammon, our lecturer, has been unable to attend the meetings but her place has been ably filled by Farrington Charles, chairman of the young people's entertainment committee.

THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER

The New York Times, discussing the country newspaper editorially, said:
 "Conditions in rural districts have changed so much in the last ten or fifteen years that the problem now presented to the country newspaper bears more relation to that of the big daily than to its own former situation. Motor cars, radio, movies, good roads and a wider, freer acquaintance in farm and village population have caused the greater part of the change. Introduction of modern equipment for getting out the paper is responsible for the rest."

WATERFORD

The home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Monroe was the scene of a lively card party of twelve tables, on Friday evening, Mrs. Augusta Monroe and Mr. Fayman carried off the highest whist score. The party, first on the program, the electric lights went out and "the old-time candle light" was the only illumination until P. L. Stone and E. Kimball came to drive to South Waterford and replace blown out fuses. Next, the house doctor, Richard Sanborn was taken sick with acute indigestion and in spite of the ministrations of Dr. Hubbard, assisted by E. Kimball, F. A. Morgan, L. R. Rounds, John Muller and Clinton Fletcher, the horse died. The third and last bit of excitement came at the close of the evening, when the Ford driven by Miss Corl and was persuaded to start only after much vigorous cranking by the host. However, everyone had a good time. Refreshments of cake, ice cream and coffee were served.

Miss Ruth Rounds was crowned "Queen of the Carnival" at North Waterford on Saturday. Ruth is one of our popular young ladies of this stage.

Mrs. L. R. Muller attended the whist party on Friday evening. She has recovered nicely from her recent attack of grip.

Miss Johnson from Bridgton Academy visited Ruth Rounds over the week end and attended the whist party on Friday evening, and the carnival, on Saturday.

Miss Carrie Plummer invited the F. R. R. Club to meet at her house on Thursday, and six members and four visitors responded to the invitation. A delicious dinner was served at noon. The ladies brought their fancy work and enjoyed a social afternoon. Miss Mary Rounds, who was home on a vacation, was the guest of honor.

"School of Religious Instruction" met at the Community House on Wednesday evening. Refreshments were served on entertainment and plans were made for the Circle dinner, to be served on Tuesday Meeting day.

Percy Kimball took Mr. Townsend to Bridgton on Monday.

Several people from this village went to South Waterford, Monday evening, to attend the entertainment given by the Harrison people, and felt well repaid for going.

The silver cup given by the United Parish to the Sunday school scholar winning the most points at the carnival, went this year to Ruth Rounds.

SOUTH WATERFORD

M. Atterton Monroe of Brooklyn, N. Y., was a recent caller at his aunt's, Mrs. Jennie Plummer's. His cousin, Mrs. Bessie Hill, brought him from Norway, Mr. Monroe's visit to Maine at this season was to see his uncle, John Monroe, of Mechanic Falls, who is in very poor health.

Frank Bell is some better at the present time. Mrs. Bell has been confined to her bed for a time this past week, by a lame side.

Dorothy Holden entertained her friends at the home of W. H. Abbott, on Wednesday night, Feb. 23. A fine supper was served by Flora Abbott and her assistants. It was a real banquet. After the clearing of the supper, a musical feature "The Pony Express" was presented by Mr. Bell and Mr. Wentworth, which was very good. The hall was well filled; a fine picture at unusual prices, Norway Evening, by exhibiting his car and horse rig to convey the passengers wishing to go, Ada Curtis, Mahlon Rogers and Clinton Fletcher were the drivers. You may be sure we are all very grateful for this kindness.

Friday night, W. W. Abbott made it possible for many from our village to attend the whist party at Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Morgan's at Waterford, where all had a delightful evening by smoking his car and horse rig to convey the passengers wishing to go, Ada Curtis, Mahlon Rogers and Clinton Fletcher were the drivers. You may be sure we are all very grateful for this kindness.

Mrs. A. A. Monroe, who has been sick for a few days from dizzy spells, is getting better.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Hamlin and Wade Haggood were in Bridgton on Thursday, to get Little Walter, who has spent quite a time with his great aunt, Louisa Moulton. The Hamlins kindly took Ethel Monroe with them to go to the bank. It was a very rainy trip.

Carroll Sanborn met with quite a loss when his faithful old horse died last Friday night in F. A. Morgan's barn at Waterford, while Mrs. Sanborn and Richard were at the party. We are sorry for them. A horse is almost indispensable with them.

Miss Louise Monroe, youngest daughter of F. A. Monroe, of Melrose, Mass., is spending her week's vacation with her grandmother, Mrs. A. A. Monroe, at the home of David Bradley, who returned to Fryeburg, where she is staying during the winter months.

Mrs. Leah Buswell is in Portland on a case for a couple of weeks.

Winslow Walker is in Lovell, visiting. The Ladies' Aid was entertained at David Bradley's on Thursday, all enjoyed a delicious oyster stew, served at dinner time.

Several of the men from this section assisted in cutting and hauling wood for the Harbor Parsonage.

Wilfred Springer is cutting wood for Clarence Kimball.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Bell and children, were Sunday visitors at Clinton Charles'.

FRYEBURG—FISH STREET

Horace Burgess visited Mrs. Everett Baker a few days last week.

Mrs. Ellen Smart, who spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Cochran at the home of David Bradley, has returned to Fryeburg, where she is staying during the winter months.

Mrs. Leon Shirley and two children of East Conant spent the day recently with her mother, Mrs. F. R. Locke.

G. W. Weston shipped a carload of cattle, Saturday.

The old fashioned dance at the K. of P. Hall was well attended and everyone reported a fine time. There will be another one in two weeks.

says in her own home paper, the Quincy Tribune Ledger: "My health is better than for 30 years and my weight has increased from 88 to 119 since using Sorbol Quinquin. People remark about the great change in me. At times I thought I would choke to death and had to struggle to get my breath. I hope I may aid someone by telling or writing my experience."

LESSON No. 18
Question: Why is emul-sified cod-liver oil so needful for a child who is pale and losing weight?
Answer: It is food and tonic rich in vitamins and other nourishing factors that are particularly helpful to a weakened child.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Double Action Medicine
Stops Stubborn Coughs
Here is a real medicine long the standard of doctors for coughs and colds. You can count on it to stop the toughest of old die-hard coughs. It's used in the most persistent cases when coughs must be stopped and stopped quick.
It is called Adamson's Balsam. Acts in two ways to end the cough and if it doesn't you can have your money back.
First it breaks up the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membrane and gives the throat muscles a chance to expel the phlegm. That stops your racking cough, and like a healing poultice it takes the soreness out of the delicate throat lining.
Other elements not found in ordinary sweet, sugary syrups go into the system through the blood and attack the germs right at the seat of trouble and in a day or two every trace of danger is gone.
Adamson's Balsam contains no dope, dangerous drugs or chloroform. It's wonderful for children. It certainly stops coughs—Easy ones in a dose or two —Hard ones in a day or two. Two sizes, 35c and 75c.

Niagara "Kolo" Dusting Materials
The New Dusts you can see Stick give more permanent protection from each application These "Kolo" Dusting Materials have sticking properties not found in any other dusting material. They may be applied with equal effect to either wet or dry foliage, and after once "set," will stick for weeks throughout rain and wind. This dust is a visible sticker. You can see it plainly without lens or microscope. Experiments demonstrate that this sticker dust retains a larger percentage of sulphur on the leaf surface for a longer period than is the case of "Lime Sulphur" Solution, or most any other liquid spraying material.

KOLODUST
Kolodust is the Superior Fungicidal Dust for all applications where no poison is necessary for chewing insects.
KOLOTEX
Kolotex is the Superior Fungicide Dust combined with Poison for chewing insects, for application where it is desired to control chewing insects as well as fungus diseases.

Impressive Six-Cylinder Performance
at Its Most Impressive Price

PERFORMANCE—That's the outstanding factor in the sensational success of the New Series Pontiac Six! And real six-cylinder performance, too... The power and high-speed endurance of the largest engine used in any six of its price class... The smoothness and flexibility assured by the GMR cylinder head—that famous General Motors Research development available on no other low-priced six... The reliability, economy and safety resulting from numerous other great new advancements in design—the cross-flow radiator with thermostat control, improved manifold and carburetor with accelerating pump, "down draft" crankcase ventilation, fuel pump with gasoline filter and four-wheel brakes... See this lowest priced General Motors Six at any of the dealers listed below. Drive it. Compare it with any other car at or near its price—and you will know why everyone says it is the biggest, most beautiful, most modern six ever offered at $745!

Winter's Colds and Chills Throw Heavy Burdens on the Kidneys.
COLD put extra burdens on our kidneys. When the kidneys slow up, impurities remain in the blood and are apt to make one tired and achy with headaches, dizziness and often nagging backache. A common warning is scanty or burning secretions.
Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Are endorsed by users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!
